BOOKS

Edited anthology in press

Berman, Helene, & Jiwani, Yasmin (Eds.). (2013). Faces of Violence in the Lives of Girls. London, Ontario: Althouse Press.

Monograph

Discourses of Denial: Mediations of Race, Gender & Violence. Vancouver, BC: University of British Columbia Press, 2006. Nominated for the Gertrude Robinson Prize in Communications, 2007.

This book examines the confluence of race, gender and violence from an inter- and multi-disciplinary perspective. Chapters include an analysis of the discursive economy of gendered racism and sexist violence in the courtrooms, the print media, and in the health-care system. Additionally, several chapters focus on the import and impact of these discursive formations in the daily lives of girls and women of colour. Discourses of Denial has been used as a core text at the University of Victoria, York University, University of Ottawa, Concordia University's Sociology department and the Simone de Beauvoir Institute. Thus far, the book has been reprinted twice in paperback and continues to be widely used.
